

RING CHART

Please ensure that you are printing at 100% when printing this page and that it is NOT being shrunk to fit the page. By doing so the scale circle in the top right corner should measure 10 mm in diameter.

To find your ring size, place a ring of yours over the sizing circles, ensuring that you can see the black outline of the circle edge within your ring.

When measuring the ring size, please note that the width of a finger changes in response to the ambient temperature and other influences. In the evening, fingers are generally thicker than in the morning, and they are thinner on cool days than on warm ones.

Should you for some reason not find your size please contact me for support.
